Anderson ZurMuehlen & Co., P.C. places a high value on your privacy and the security of your personal information. We have policies in place to safeguard the information you provide to us, whether it is in paper or electronic format.

New federal regulations were recently enacted to ensure all tax preparers handle their clients' information with care. The regulations require that we obtain your written consent before we use or disclose your information including your name and address for any purpose other than preparing your tax return, such as recommending services or sending you our firm newsletter.

Enclosed are two consent forms for your review. The forms describe the reasons why we have used or disclosed your information in the past and request your consent to continue doing so in the future. We assure you that our business practices will not change and we will continue to respect your privacy and maintain confidentiality. The only difference is that we are required by law to obtain your written permission before contacting you regarding our services.

Please note that you are not required to sign and return either form in order to continue doing business with Anderson ZurMuehlen. You may give your consent for all, some, or none of the situations. However, without your signed consent, we cannot contact you regarding matters that do not directly relate to your tax return. This means we would not be able to contact you to recommend services that might be of benefit to you. Also, you might not receive our newsletters, client alerts, industry newsletters, e-newsletters, event invitations, thanksgiving cards, or other Anderson ZurMuehlen news.

To give us your consent, please complete and return both forms to our office. You may hand deliver, fax, e-mail or send the forms by postal mail using the enclosed postage paid envelope. We ask that you return the forms to us prior to the completion of your tax return.

If you have any questions regarding these consent forms, we will be happy to discuss them with you. Please contact your tax advisor.
